ROCKEFELLER TO SPEAK AT GALLAUDET

Vice President Nelson Rockefeller has accepted the College's invitation to speak at a special convocation at Gallaudet during the Congress of the World Federation of the Deaf.

The convocation ceremonies will be held on Kendall Green on the evening of August 5. Several honorary degrees as well as international awards, including the Powrie Vaux Doctor Medallion, will be presented.

AMONG OURSELVES

--Janice Mitchell from the German Department participated in the Community Learning Institute for Language Learning at the University of Michigan.

--Congratulations to Carl and Susie Kirchner on the birth of a son, Matthew Jerome.

--Lee Putnam has been selected by the Council on Library Resources to be an Academic Library Management Intern at Rutgers University, beginning in September.

--The Connecticut State Commission on the Deaf and Hearing Impaired invited Will Madsen to participate in a Manual Communication Instructors Workshop earlier this month. Utilizing a team approach, the workshop was designed to aid instructors of intermediate and advanced sign language.

--A number of speaking engagements have kept Tom Mayes on the road during the past month or so. Tom was commencement speaker at both the North Carolina and the Margaret

S. Sterck Schools for the Deaf. While in San Francisco conducting a Gallaudet Forum, Tom also did an interview program for the Bay area educational TV station.

COOKING UTENSILS NEEDED

A group of 41 Kendall School children and their parents will be participating in a family program this summer at the Swan Lake Lodge in Pengilly, Minnesota.

A baking class is planned as part of the program. The camp does not have the necessary cooking utensils. If you have items such as mixing bowls, measuring cups, cookie cutters and other baking items please do not discard them.

You may leave them with Bernice Turk at Kendall School or Polly Peikoff in the Office of Alumni and Public Relations.

NEW TTY

The Internal Auditor's Office has recently installed a new MCM. The number is 823.

COMPREHENSIVE PLANNING FOR COLLEGES

Orin Cornett will be directing an institute, "Coordinating the Planning Process," at Princeton University, June 22-27.

Presented by the Society for College and University Planning, the institute will deal with the adoption by colleges and universities of comprehensive planning techniques used by business. Thirty to 40 college presidents and other top administrators are expected to attend.

The Gallaudet College Master Plan, an example of comprehensive planning, is much in demand at other schools and over 500 copies have been distributed in response to requests from colleges and universities.

SUMMER AT KENDALL SCHOOL

Who said summer school has to be a drag? It certainly isn't so at Kendall School. The KDES summer program is different and exciting with many opportunities for learning within a framework of fun.

Some Kendall School students will be participating in an exchange program with the Governor Baxter School for the Deaf in Maine. Others will be going to an educational field and camping experience in Minnesota.

Younger children will be able to participate in an experimental language enrichment program including twice weekly field trips.

Learning Vacations centering on the theme, "How to Communicate with Your Deaf Child," will be available to Kendall School families.

THE UNIQUE NEEDS OF THE DEAF-BLIND

The Public Service Programs is sponsoring a workshop this week focusing on the problems and needs of the deaf-blind. Focusing on the theme, "Getting It All Together: A New Team for Unique Needs," the workshop will bring together people working in the fields of deafness, blindness and deaf-blindness to share their experiences and knowledge.

Representatives from 24 different organizations and agencies will be participating.

THE NEXT ISSUE OF ON THE GREEN
WILL BE PUBLISHED ON JULY 2.
